

Unforgettable Five

Check out our favorite Atlanta faithfuls for the month of June.

—BY SARAH GLEIM

MURPHY'S has been a staple in Virginia Highland for more than 25 years, and everyone knows it serves one of the best brunches in town. So while you're out at VaHi Summerfest this year, hit up the Reserve Wine Tasting on June 4, 5 or 6 (times vary). It'll have 40 different wines from California, Oregon, France, Italy, Spain, Argentina and Australia for tasting right next to the Summerfest Acoustic Stage. 404.872.0904 or murphysvh.com.

EDDIE'S ATTIC is an institution in Decatur. Music lovers from all over flock to the famed "listening room" to hear live performances of both established and up-and-coming singer/songwriters. Since opening almost 20 years ago, Eddie's has helped launch the music careers of several local artists, including John Mayer, Sugarland, Shawn Mullins and Josh Joplin. And Atlanta faves like the Indigo Girls still play at Eddie's Attic on special occasions, including four sold-out shows in July. Other big names like Sheryl Crow, Brandi Carlile and The Black Crowes also have played gigs here. 404.377.4976 or eddiesattic.com.

It's been 11 years since chef Riccardo Ullio opened SOTTO SOTTO in Inman Park, and diners have been flocking there ever since for a taste of his authentic Italian cuisine. His dishes are complex and flavorful, and developed using centuries-old techniques from the Italian old country. Beginning this month, guests can enjoy seasonal dishes like tortelloni ai carciofi (tortelloni stuffed with fresh artichokes and mascarpone with butter sauce); tonno agli agrumi (seared tuna with white Spanish beans); and lombata di agnello (seared lamb loin served with local spring vegetables). 404.523.6678 or sottosottorestaurant.com.

We've loved PRYOR FINE ART since artist and owner Susie Pryor opened it in 1988. It was one of the first galleries on Bennett Street (hence the original name Bennett Street Gallery), and today represents more than 40 local and national contemporary artists, including Laura Schiff Bean, Marc Civitarese, Andre Petterson and Lisa Lala. Lala's "The List Wall Project" exhibit opens June 25 and will include an entire wall of the gallery devoted to lists from groups and individuals from all over the world, plus a full presentation of her paintings. 404.352.8775 or pryorfineart.com.

We were all sad to see BEVERLY HALL FURNITURE in Buckhead close last year, but the Roswell location is still going strong after 22 years. The 35,000-square-foot showroom features traditional and contemporary furniture, as well as a clearance center. And if you were fond of a particular staffer at the Piedmont location, you can find them in Roswell now—they all transferred there. 770.642.6641 or beverlyhall.com.

